THE H. B. TICKET.

The H. B. Convention nominated the following ticket:

Governor, Dr. Glenn, of Colusa.

Lieutenant Governor, Jno. P. West, of Los Angeles.

Secretary of State, L. E. Crane, of Sierra.

Controller, H. M. Larue, of Sacramento.

Treasurer, Cyrus Jones, of Santa Clara.

Attorney General, C. W. Cross, of Nevada.

Surveyor General, J. F. Clark, of Alameda.

Superintendent of Public Instruction, A. L. Mann, of San Francisco.

Railroad Commissioners—First District, Henry Sartlin; Second, Samuel Soule, of San Francisco; Third, Gen. Stoneman.

Chief Justice, Nathaniel Bennett, of San Francisco.

Clerk of the Supreme Court, Edwin F. Smith, of Sacramento.

A case of Indian heartlessness has been unearthed at Cross Village, Emmet county, Michigan. An Indian passing a shed heard cries, and investigated; when he found therein the widow of Shobwama, late chief of the Snow Indians, who, it is alleged, has been terribly abused for some time past by her heirs, and turned out to die. She is 82 years of age. When found she was nearly dead from starvation and exposure, and unable to stand. She is still living, and will probably survive.

ACQUITTED.—After being out but a few minutes the jury in the case of H. J. Brady, charged with the murder of Clark, brought in a verdict of "not guilty." The instructions of the Court to the jury were to the effect that if they considered that death resulted directly from the wound, and not from exposure and misconduct on the part of deceased, and that the defendant inflicted the wound with malicious intent they must find a verdict of guilty. But if they thought that death resulted from the indiscretion of the deceased, and not immediately from the wound, they must find a verdict of not guilty.

A Post subscriber is informed that by the "bonanzas" is meant Consolidated Virginia and California. The "north end stocks" embrace Ophir, Mexican, Union, Sierra Nevada and Utah, these mines being located on the northern end of the Comstock lode. Savage and Hale &amp; Norcross are styled the "water stocks," because of the condition of the mines. The "south end stocks" embrace Justice, Alta, Benton and other mines which are located on what is believed to be the southern extremity of the lode.

THE RICH CALIFORNIA BANKER.

When it became known that one of the richest California bankers had left the Pacific Coast and transferred his base of operations to the New York Stock Exchange, all the shrewd financiers watched his course with keen interest to see how he would succeed. The result has emphatically proved the wealthy banker's sagacity. Besides having a much and more promising field to operate in, he is known to have been in several stock combinations that paid immense profits. By the combination method of operating in stocks

Messrs. Lawrence &amp; Co. Bankers, N. Y. unite orders of thousands of customers, in different sums, into one vast capital, and operate them as a mighty whole, dividing profits proportionately among shareholders every 30 days. Capital in any amount from $10 to $100,000 can be used with great success in these pools. $25 would pay $100 profit. $500 would make $5,000 or 10 per cent, on the stock during the month. Messrs. Lawrence &amp; Co.'s new circular (mailed free) gives "two unerring rules for success," and full particulars, so that any one can operate in stocks, and make money. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence &amp; Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

T. E. Pico, a practical printer, and proprietor of the Lyon County Times, has been elected President of the Mechanics' Union of Lyon County. Pico possesses the necessary executive ability, and will make a good officer.

John G. Thompson, Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee of Ohio, believes that Ewing will be beaten in Ohio. Thompson will, it is stated, be removed from his position.

All is in readiness at the flooded mines to commence pumping. It is now the intention to start up the pumps July 1.

CONCLUSIONS.

I. That the savings to-day are far greater than in the past.

II. That the earnings of the present are greater than in 1860.

III. That the cost of articles that enter into living has not advanced in proportion to our earnings.

IV. That the mass of the people are better fed, clothed, housed, and in possession of more of the comforts of life than at any other period.

V. That the change has been brought about by this development of the forces of nature through discovery, invention, the use of machinery, and the harmonious working of capital and labor.

VI. That capital and labor, instead of being antagonistic, are naturally helpful, and that any elements beyond the control of either acting separately.

OKOLONA.

Choice Specimens of Southern Democratic Sentiment.

[From the Okolona, Mississippi, Southern States, June 4th.]

Whenever a Yankee Congressman lays a chip on his shoulder we want to see a Southern brigadier spring forward and yank it as high as the Capitol. There will be a backdown on the part of the bullies when this little performance has been repeated a few times. They must be taught their old fear and respect for their Southern superiors.

The Federal brigadiers went forth to battle against our sovereign States.

They tried to riddle our government with rifle balls.

They thereby committed treason—the highest crime that is known to the laws of the Lord and man.

They forfeited their right to everything under the sun, save and except the rope of the hangman.

At least 500,000 of your blacklegs in blue were shot down to the death in 1861-5.

Perhaps you feel like sparing another half million of your arrant thieves and cut-throats?

How is it?

You are taxed and impoverished until one sublime, terrific, universal equal is rising from your ranks.

Do you think that you can stand a debt of $2,500,000,000 on top of your present liabilities?

How is it?

To make your threats! but since we have recaptured the reins of our State governments we have been whooping along toward prosperity and power at a hand-gallop.

We can stand another fight if you can—glory to God!

If the bloody-shriters should recover their power and resume their tyrannical and traitorous hostility toward the South it would be well for the general government to steer clear of a foreign war.

An alliance between its adversaries and our section would most positively take place under these circumstances.

For every drop of Southern blood that was spilled by your Lincoln murderers we will have revenge.

For every Southern roof-tree that was fired by your Lincoln incendiaries we will have revenge.

For every Southern dollar that was stolen by your Lincoln thieves we will have revenge.

For every insult and outrage that we suffered at the hands of your Lincoln mudsills we will have revenge.

Do you think, ye bastard Democrats of Yankeedom, that you have one tithe of the love and veneration for the Union that we had for the old Confederacy?

Do you think that we feel one tithe of the deep devotion for the star-spangled banner that we felt for the Bonny Blue?

The perpetuity of the Union, as far as Dixie is concerned, depends upon the supremacy of our sentiments.

The triumph of States rights and white supremacy may possibly lead to the secession of Yankeedom, but the triumph of Centralism and negro domination will positively lead to the destruction of this confederacy of States.

Our people will never acknowledge that the Federal government is a nation, and they will march with bare feet through gore and fire before they will again bow to the rule of the wretched blacks.

There are off the coast of Kerry, Ireland, little islands called the Blaskets, inhabited by a very poor and primitive population, whose nearest church is on the shore of the main land. On stormy Sundays they cannot cross to "hear mass," but they kneel by their rocky coast bareheaded, in the open air; the progress of the ceremony is made known to them by flags, and their prayers accompany those of the priest.

The Picnic To Day.

The M. E. Sunday school picnic to-day to the Bowers Mansion promises to be largely attended, and we have no doubt of its success socially.

N. Nathan returned from below yesterday morning, where he has been purchasing a fine assortment of flags and fireworks, not forgetting a choice lot of imported and domestic cigars. If you want any of these for the 4th, or any other time, go to Nathan's.

The grasshoppers are up around Verdi, but have not yet inflicted any injury on the growing crops. They may make a raid on the town though, and if they do they will be very apt to clean out Jack Foulks and the rest of them.

A fine steel-keyed, German-silver bound, double bass, double stop German accordion, one of the finest toned instruments to be found, really worth $30, will be sold for $10 at Uncle Harris', 221 Kearny street, between Bush and Satter.

Force Gregory was on trial on Tuesday before Sutro Engine Co. on a charge of having appropriated certain money belonging to the Company. He was honorably acquitted.

Cookes' brick is being so constructed as to serve the especial purpose of a dining room and kitchen, the whole to be an auxiliary to the wooden structure in front.

Wm. T. Davis, formerly a blacksmith in Reno, died at Lone Pine, Cal, on the 1st inst. Billy was a good boy, and we are sorry to hear that he is dead.

The Depot Hotel has three flagstaffs. Len Harris made the house a present of a $100 flag, to float to the breeze from the middle staff.

It is really a pleasure to drink Pinniger & Queen's ice cold soda water. All kinds of syrups.

Joe Jones and Jim Maberry leave this morning for a trip to Bodie.

Bodie stocks are up, while the Comstocks are down.

Yesterday was an extremely hot one — 83 in the shade.

Last Day.

Yesterday was the last day of school, and was observed by appropriate exercises. In the Grammer Department the attendance of visitors was so great that there was hardly accommodations for them. The various departments had speaking, singing, etc., and dismissed earlier than the more advanced room. Here the exercises were of an unusual good one, and were listened to by the audience with much interest. Following is the programme:

America, song school; Our Union, George Coffin; Where are the bad people buried, Bert Budde; Paul Revere's Ride, Etta Smith; One pair of stocking, Lillie Stalker; Dialogue "Force of Imagination," Julia Wintermantel, Ione Gould, Fannie Russack, Beckie Prescott; Tom, Dick Arrowsmith; The Blacksmith's Story, Emma Scott; First Regiment Mains, George Palmer; Good Bye Old Home, Song, School; Poor but Proud, Clara Weston; Pyramids and Thisbe, Beckie Prescott; All Hail the Land of Liberty, Minnie Vaillancourt, Emma Cutting, Cora Manning, Kittie Grippen; Answer to 5 o'clock in the Morning, Eddie Graff; Shadows on the Wall, Song, School; Putting up the Stoves, Julia Wintermantel; Symptoms, Armenia Grippen; Song, Long to see the Dear Old Home, Julia Wintermantel; There's Danger in the Town, Alma Smith; Dialogue, "Matrimonial Advertisement," Carrie Sessions; Celia Sessions, Julia Wintermantel; Eddie Winfrey, Guy Manning; A Veteran's Appeal, Abe Barnett; Youthful Days, Song, School; The Old Man goes to the Fair, Irene McLoft; Parody on The Old Oaken Bucket, Louis Wintermantel; Going to School, Mary Stiner; Last Prayer of Mary Queen of Scots, Josie Wintermantel; Ring the Merry Bells, Song, School; Farewell, Song, Ada Tilton, C. Sessions; The Light keeper's Daughter, C. Sessions; Essay, Walter Fulmer; McLane's Child, Ada Tilton.

We forbear speaking particularly of any one. All did well and reflected credit upon themselves and their teacher Prof. Ring.

Just as the school was about to be dismissed Miss Ada Tilton stepped forward and in a neat little speech presented Mr. Ring with a fine ring, as a token of the esteem of the scholars. Mr. Ring was so surprised that he was utterly unable to reply and deputized the County Superintendent to do it for him.

After the school was out a feast of good things, in the shape of nuts, candies, cake, etc., appeared, and received ample attention; The entire afternoon was one of pleasure to all.

Bad Ones.

The town has a number of bad characters, late arrivals, and the Tar Brigade are keeping a careful lookout. All citizens should be on guard; there is no telling just when some lawless act will be committed, which might have been prevented had the useful step been taken.

Marriage in High Life.

Rev. W. R. Jenvey and Miss Saida Bragg will be married on the evening of July 2d. The high standing of the parties, and the host of friends they have, will be certain to make the ceremony a very brilliant affair. The JOURNAL is delighted, and extends its best wishes.

The Potato Crop.

Reports from all sections in the Western portion of this State indicate that there will be a great falling off from the usual production of potatoes; many believing one-third of a crop will not be raised. The grasshoppers have hurt it some.

Last of the Cherry Creek Stagers.

The Donnelly case which has been on trial in the U. S. District Court, was given the jury last evening. There is a chance for the jury to hang. If so there will be another trial.

Knights' Ball.

We return thanks for complimentary to the Knights' ball. As this ball will be the dance of the season, the JOURNAL office must be represented, and would have been, even had gold coin to be paid for tickets.

Rumored Change.

It is rumored that Wells, Fargo & Co. have made changes in their route over the Central Pacific Railroad, by which messengers will run from Ogden and San Francisco to Reno, instead of to Winnemucca, as at present.

Archery.

Archery clubs and meetings are now the rage, and Reno should stand in right off. The ladies can indulge in the amusement, and many prefer it to croquet. Why not send for bows, arrows, targets, guards and gloves?

TELEGRAPHIC SPARKS!

Fitz-John Porter's trial cost $9,000. Bashi-Bazouks are assembling in Albania, ready to raid Epirus and Thessaly.

Gov. Hartman, of Pennsylvania, wants to succeed McCrary in the Cabinet.

The heat in New York City has become intense, and people are fleeing to the sea coast.

The remains of the Prince Imperial are expected to arrive in London from South Africa to-day.

The Sultan ordered the Khedive to abdicate; he did so and Prince Tewfik is now Khedive of Egypt.

It is now confidently expected that Congress will adjourn on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

The Judicial Appropriation has again passed the House. The Senate will pass it without amendment and the President will get it to-day.

Ex-Governor Arney, of Mexico, has started for England, to prove that he is heir to $50,000,000 left by Hyde some years ago.

A row occurred in the Second Ward New Constitution Club of San Francisco the other evening, during which one man nearly lost an eye and several were badly used up.

J. F. Jaggard, a resident of Biggs, Butte county, Cal., was stabbed Thursday evening and instantly killed by a tramp. The citizens threaten lynching. The tramp has been locked up.

News From Home.

An interior paper tells its readers this piece of news about a Reno occurrence. It will be read with interest to all:

A few days ago a tramp, who was sparing his devions way along near Reno conceived a brilliant idea for raising the wind. He knew that the Wells Fargo stage would pass along that road in about half an hour, so he took off his coat, tore his shirt and pockets, rolled in the dust, and finally tied himself, with much difficulty to a tree. His intentions was to tell the stage passengers that he had been foully dealt with by highwaymen, and have a subscription to repair his losses taken up on the spot. The stage, however, took a short cut by a new road, that day and didn't go by at all. After waiting until dusk, the tramp tried to take off his bonds, but before he got the first knot loose a grizzly bear came down out of the mountains and pinched off the greater part of his left leg.

Collision.

Night before last at about 12 o'clock the special car of Mr. Clements, a C. P. magnate, collided with the second section of No. 5. The first section had passed and the special not knowing of the second, continued on its way. The collision took place about a mile east of Cisco. The freight was a double-header and the first engine was ditched. James Bailey, the fireman, had his left leg broken, and one or two others sustained slight injuries. The road was blocked for several hours, so long in fact that the eastern overland breakfasted here and the lightning did not leave for Virginia until 9 o'clock.

Election.

Amity Lodge No. 8, K. of P., last night elected the following officers to serve the ensuing term: Isaac Chamberlain, C. C.; A. Dawson, V. C.; J. T. Davis, Prelate; F. J. Myers, M. of E.; J. M. Flanagan, M. of F.; J. S. Gilson, K. of R. S.; R. Smith, Trustee, long term.

C. W. Perry, Agent, will make a handsome showing in the 4th of July procession, with an Osborne self-binding harvester, three mowers and hay rake. Good way to advertise; and we should like to see all of our business interests represented.

That monstrosity of a circus—"The Arabian" etc., had the cheek to play here again last night. They didn't have time to patch up the crazy balloon after its Carson collapse, so it didn't fizzle again. People who attend such concerns deserve to be bilked. The spavined outfit go North from here.

The 4th of July Committee refuses to accept Mr. Varian's resignation as orator. He has finished his stage robbery cause, and though very tired, will do the best he can for us.

The next Grand Jury will find six prisoners awaiting to answer, that many having been saved up already.

Burchard & McClelland will furnish ice cream and lemonade at Scott's last soiree this evening.

The examination of Barnett, for stabbing Hurd, is set for to-day in the Police Court.

There is a large roan cow in the pound.

The Dutch word for insurance company is Levensverzekeringsmaatschappij. There are many people who would call the insurance companies by worse names than this if they could only invent them.

THE MILITARY FORCES OF THE REPUBLIC.

Force of a Government Without an Armed Force—Our Present Condition—No Fear that the Liberties of Citizens Will Be Curtailed

General Joseph R. Hawley, of Connecticut, made a lengthy and eloquent address on "The Military Forces of the Republic," before the Society of the Army of the Potomac, at the late reunion, on the evening of June 18th. At the outset the speaker wished it understood that the consideration of these topics had no reference to party debate. He thought the true doctrine could be laid down in such manner as to command the assent of thoughtful men without entering upon details that have given rise to heated party strife. It might appear superfluous within fifteen years of the rebellion, to insist upon maintaining a thoroughly educated, disciplined, trained, efficient national army. The reduction of our army of a million down to twenty-five thousand men was one of the marvels of modern times. It was childish to prophesy we were never to have war with any foreign Power, almost equally foolish to say we need not continue any precautions against civil war. The man who would have been called a silly dreamer who, in 1860, had foretold that the whole land was to tremble beneath the tread of a million and a half of soldiers, and battles were to be fought equal to those of Napoleon, in the numbers engaged, the fierceness of the combat and the magnitude of the interest involved. To reduce, then, or disband our armies, to dismiss West Point and Annapolis academies, and make no attempt to gather up for ourselves improvements, inventions and discoveries in the art of warfare, would be supreme folly. Our academies cannot give us more than 120 educated soldiers and sailors in a year. It is hardly possible that in case of a great foreign war we could summon to the field 3,000 fully trained officers. One could hardly exaggerate the marvellous facility an American citizen has for converting himself into a useful and effective soldier, but this was inevitably a matter of time; and that he may so convert himself the services of a trained corps of instructors and leaders are indispensable. Speaking of the character of the military establishment of the future General Hawley said he would insist upon a high ideal of the American professional soldier, select for our academies the very flower of our youth, make the standard of admission high, keep them thoroughly up to the mark at every stage, no more in matters of mere knowledge and intellectual power than in what goes to make a man of fine temper, high honor and pure patriotism. In all matters of engineering and of ordnance, in all that pertains to the equipment of infantry and cavalry, small arms and artillery, what we have should be the very best that our people, fertile in invention, could devise and manufacture. Enough of munitions of war should be kept in store to supply a very considerable army. Referring to the recent vacillating policy in dealing with the army, General Hawley said the incessant camping, alternately stopping and starting promotion, conveying to sensitive and honorable men who have devoted themselves to one of the noblest of professions the impressions that they are superfluous in peace, expensive and vexatious luxuries, was unjust, unscrupulous, unkind. Let us have an army worthy of honor or none at all, and if worthy of honor, let it have honor. He could hardly conceive it within the bounds of any reasonable probability that a regular army would ever be seriously dangerous to the liberties of the country, but the same when there is no danger in the time to guard against the possibility of danger, and an effective militia in each State on the one hand, a compact Federal army on the other, and that patriotism and sound sense in the people, without which our Government would be a failure, reduced the dangers of armed forces to a minimum. Situated as we are, fighting for an honorable purpose, waging a justifiable war (and he hoped we should never wage any other) we should be ready for the world.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

After stating strong reasons why the navy should be even better prepared to resist attack than the army, General Hawley referred to the disagreeable localities that the army is sometimes called on to perform, repressing domestic violence. What has occurred in the past, says the orator, may occur again. As the nation grows in population—from 45,000,000 to 50,000,000 or 100,000,000—the eddies, surges and gulf tides of social, religious and political agitation will occasionally break bounds. The government which respects itself and properly feels the immense responsibility of guarding the laws and property of its citizens, while it will reluctantly resort to armed force and will compel the civil authority to exhaust its resources, will, nevertheless be ready at last to act with decision and overwhelming power. The element of force has its indispensable place in any well considered moral or political theory of government. To do with the determined violators of law is supreme cruelty to the peaceable citizen. Severe as it sounds it is mercy as well as justice to call at the proper time crushing, irresistible and if need be, killing force, and this force must be ready—silent, slumbering perhaps, but ready, and it must be known to be so. The very knowledge of its existence is a repressing, peace-giving influence, that cannot be overestimated. In general it suffices. To publish to the nation that, under no circumstances, should the standing army or the militia be used to sustain the civil authority, would be to invite anarchy. A government without force is a contemptible fice. Liberty means law; law implies order and implicit obedience. The difference between the law of a king and the law of a republic is that the former is the will of one man, usually with much regard to natural justice; while the other is the will of the whole people, the common sense of most, the judgment of all men, who are supposed to know more than one man. The obligations and sanctions are equal in either case. That we are a Democracy means more the less that our laws are to be absolutely obeyed without a question than if they came from an irresistible despot. Liberty without law.

justice and obedience is not liberty. The rule of the mob is the most terrible, inane and merciless of all rule.

General Hawley next reviewed the different conditions that existed in England and those that have existed in the United States calling for a national army. He pointed out that above all it was necessary to maintain effective militia forces, which would prevent in many instances the necessity of Federal aid. I protest, continued the General, as unjust to the army and dangerous to the Government, against a false economy and an unconscionable jealousy of the soldier and the profession of arms. I do not assume to fix the numbers of our trained militia, possibly, of the former, 25,000 or 50,0
